TILE WE MEET AGAIN Architectural photographer Paul Clemence can often be found roaming around town with his camera. Recently, a public art installation by Michelle Weinberg at the GSA Facility caught his eye. "For me, one of the most exciting new designs in Miami is Shadow Canopy," he says of the mosaic installation.

"Michelle's exquisite design integrates beautifully with the architecture, adding to it an interesting rhythm that is very Miami, while essentially still very Michelle Weinberg!" About the Miami artist's design, Weinberg says, "The idea is that the tiles would enhance the architecture, not overload the experience." michelleweinberg.com
